Salam Alaykom! Please do not watch this video segment if you are busy or distracted. Please find a peaceful quiet place and time to watch. Please do not watch this video segment if you are running or if you are walking or if you're exercising. This video segment contains information that will change everything you know about the Quran.

This is part 4 of a series called “who frowned and refused to answer the blind man”. This is an interpretation of Surah Abbasa, Surah 80 from the Quran. I remind you that if you have not seen the earlier video segments in this series to please stop immediately and go watch the first and the second and the third part in this same series.

Just to give you a brief summary in part one we demonstrated that the traditional story which is reported about Surah Abbasa in all the books of Tafseer and all the translations about the Quran, that story which is based on what's called Asbab al nuzul really does not fit, does not fit based on other historical reports if you want to accept those historical reports as a basis for interpreting the Quran. It does not fit with the Quranic description of prophet Muhammad's manners and character. It does not fit with the Quranic description of the earliest companions among whom Abdullah ibn Um Maktum about whom this story is supposed to be, it does not fit with the Quranic definition of Rasool and this is very significant please go back to part one to really learn about this issue and understand why their traditional interpretation of Surah Abbasa is absolutely erroneous.

In part two we demonstrated how the Quranic stories have a style of their own again please if you have not seen those parts go back and review those two parts, we detailed the story of the man who died for 100 years and was then revived after 100 years and we put them side by side and we explained that this is a very plausible explanation that was not the proof in part two.

In part three we provided direct Quranic proof and we talked about the methodology foundations we provided two methodology foundations including a significant tool that allows us to understand all the stories of the Quran, we demonstrated also the power of the Abrahamic locution and I hope that you have benefited from part three in part three we also started the translation and interpretation of Surah Abbasa and we discussed several critical new concepts, now in this part which is going to be long it's going to be detailed it's going to be full of information and it will be the best segment so far of the whole series in this segment we provide four new methodology foundations that's a total of six, we present a brand new science of Quranic cognitive psychology something you've never heard of a model for all future research based on the Islamic model from within the Quran, we will provide a summary of the methodology process that I follow for engaging the Quran and this is something that most of you have asked about and Insha’Allah (swt),this will provide very clear elaboration on some of the steps that we follow for this methodology we also have a surprise for you in this segment there's a brand new Surah that you did not expect we are going to provide the full translation of this relatively short Surah a very important Surah, we will complete the translation of Surah Abbasa the remainder of Surah Abbasa that we did not cover in the prior segments. However, the interpretation of this part of Surah Abbasa will not be understandable without all the rest of everything else we present in this segment and thus this segment is long, and this segment is full of information but I promise you if you stick with this segment all the way to the end you're going to discover amazing things about the Quran and you're going to open a new world of viewing the Quran in ways that you've never even imagined I promise you that if you understand and apply these concepts in this segment you're going to have access to information and privileged knowledge that ninety percent of the scholars don't have they don't even know that they don't have, in other words they don't know to even ask and learn about it.

So, Insha'Allah because of this segment we will be able to access new information that will spread a brand new type of awareness within the Muslim Ummah for the future Insha'Allah. Finally, there are seven new gifts in this segment including the mother of all gifts something you could not even fathom, you cannot even imagine how beautiful and significant it is to engaging the Quran and there is a very special gift all the way to the end of the segment so please don't miss any part of this segment because you will be missing a lot. having said that we remind you that this is not an entertainment type of segment this is not for entertainment purposes we're not just telling stories we are presenting an academic research we are not just interested in giving you the answers we also want to demonstrate the organic Quranic methodology so that you see for yourself that you should not trust any other interpretation or translation that does not use this Quranic methodology. This Quranic methodology I remind you is fully derived from within the Quran, we did not make it up, we did not think of it, we did not enjoy it because we thought it's cool it's none of that it's from the Quran itself, we also remind you that we refer to the Abrahamic locution a concept that is part of this Quranic methodology we will demonstrate again in this segment how relevant and important this concept is to understanding the Quran. We will rely on the concept of schema or umnya that we discussed in prior and the concept of weltanschauung which is Arsh, I will put links to both of these segments in the description box below if you don't know what these concepts are please stop right now because you won't understand this segment and you will send all sorts of comments that don't make sense because you don't have the background required to understand the information in this segment this is new information for 99.99% of the Muslims so if you've not built the vocabulary and the concept and the intellectual background which we use in this series you won't enjoy this segment at all and you will think we're making things up. Just to remind you a little bit, we will reiterate the concept of Yazakar and the concept of Zikra which are mentioned in Ayah 4 of Surah Abbasa this is a brand new schema for most of you this is a brand new Umniy-yah and again we discussed it in prior segments on this channel. In a way this segment is the essence of the whole channel this is why this whole channel is established to teach you how to engage in the verb Yazzakar and how to engage in Zikra again, if you don't understand these concepts go back to part three and really analyze and understand these concepts and internalize them.

So, to summarize the verb Yazzakar is a purely Quranic term that has nothing to do with the language of the Arabs of the seventh century this is not a word they used this is purely a Quranic term it means to sow the seeds in your own weltanschauung in your own Arsh by asking questions with humility with patience with persistence on engaging the Quran and being available to receive new knowledge and this is significant because without being available to receive new knowledge your cup is already full there's no room for new knowledge to come in and that's why we keep talking about approaching the Quran with an empty cup approaching the Quran with humility with submission to Allah (swt),for him to teach us now the concept of Zikra we defined as the spontaneous recollection of the divine guidance which is defined according to the Abrahamic locution with the term the water it's not just water it's a divine sustenance, it's a divine irrigation, it's a divine liquid, that comes down upon us that is deposited by Allah (swt) directly to repair and to restore and to reform our weltanschauung, at this point we need to offer one more detail the question that we ask up here when we said we ask questions with humility this question or this type of question identifies specific conflicts or defects that relate to one or more of our own schemas, our own Umniy-yah within our weltanschauung (Arsh), please understand this concept take the time to really reflect every time you ask a question there is some sort of a conflict some sort of something that doesn't fit between what you're reading what you think you're reading versus what is already in your Umniy-yah in your schema, in your intellectual makeup in the framework that you think you see the world based on, and therefore these questions have to be approached with humility you have to think that not everything in your own framework is correct and that's where the importance of humility in asking these questions come in.

So, the divine water that Allah (swt) provides, which is the divine guidance as we said addresses that specific defect it's preening it is reforming it it's repairing it on your behalf so this is the concept of Yazzakar and this is the concept of Zikra, and again this is extremely important for this whole segment and we hope that you pay close attention to these issues and really understand them before you proceed. So, in that sense Allah (swt), is the restorer of your weltanschauung your personal weltanschauung Allah (swt), is engaging you on your own terms to help you repair the defects and the errors in your own schemas in your own Umniy-yah that are part of your weltanschauung.

So, this is what the Quran refers to as Shifaa it describes itself Shifaa. Why? Because when you discuss issues from within the Quran and ask these questions you're really healing, you're healing your wealth you're repairing it, you're fixing it that's the definition of Shifaa according to the organic methodology that we use and according to the Abrahamic locution. I want to remind you that Zikra takes time it is not something that happens instantaneously it happens spontaneously we said but it may take time before it materializes, before it actually occurs in your mind. So, the correct understanding does not happen at will it's not something you decide I want it now and I will get it now no first you ask the question and then you let it hang, you let it mature in your own mind you let it brew and Allah (swt) will choose the time, Allah (swt) will choose the process or the way, he gives you this divine irrigation, this divine water, this divine (Maa), to repair your weltanschauung. When it happens it appears to you as a flash of insight sometimes you don't know where it comes from and sometimes you will read something that will trigger your memory, sometimes somebody says something in front of you or sometimes Dr. Hany says something to you and then makes sense, it provides the illumination that is required for you to correct that Umniy-yah, that schema, that weltanschauung that we talked about

I want to remind you that for some of you who are enjoying this process of Zikra and some of you are already doing so and they've written to me and told me about this please remember never ever take credit for this. This is not yours this is not knowledge that you toiled on and produced out of your own abilities, this is purely from Allah (swt), you only had a very small part in seeding in sowing that little seed which is a question which indicates that you don't know, by sowing that seed coming to Allah (swt), with an empty cup Allah (swt), responds by granting you this gift so it's a gift from Allah (swt), and that's why we continuously say on this channel this whole علم, everything we talk about in this channel is a gift from Allah (swt), not just to me to all mankind, and that's why we're sharing it and Insha'Allah we will be able to continue to share it with your support and your Duaa.

Remember the concept of Naskh we discussed this in an earlier segment again I will put the link for that in the description box below, which means abrogation is not about eliminating or annulling some verses of the Quran of this of the scriptural text it is about repairing false or erroneous or mistaken assumptions and notions in your own weltanschauung and we discussed this fully before.

Finally, never trust a Zikra so you think you have a Zikra a spontaneous idea and you become enamored with it and you love it and you think it's the right answer stop you should not fall in love with that Zikra at first glance you should further proceed to confirm and to rigorously verify that this opinion or this idea that flashed in your mind is actually from Allah (swt), a little later we will discuss a few issues related to this concept of validation or confirmation and verification so just be patient and stay with us all the way until the end of this segment Insha'Allah and you will learn a lot more.

I want to remind you at this point to take a few seconds if you have not subscribed to please subscribe to this channel and if you are already a subscriber please click the red bell button which gives you the immediate notification, it also helps this channel greatly because it tells the google and YouTube search engines that other people should have access to this information, so please spread this knowledge by doing this little thing which is clicking the red button of course you should share and comment and ask questions if you don't understand something.

Now we move forward with the methodology foundations remember in part three we gave you two examples in part four which is this part we give you a few more examples from the methodology foundations and again many of you have been asking about the methodology and we're trying to be responsive as much as possible to provide details to the extent that we can, as we proceed and build this knowledge one concept at a time for you, we need to remind you that it is not enough to take one word from the Abrahamic locution that you've learned or you discovered through this channel and plug it in into the old traditional existing flat interpretation of the Quran

So, in other words if a verse has been interpreted one way or translated one way and I tell you or you discover that the Abrahamic locution for that one term in that one verse one Ayah is something else such as the example of Ardh, so you cannot just take the word Ardh replace it with the new understanding and keep everything else in the verse according to the old translation or the old interpretation, you have to understand that this is a coherent consistent systematic understanding of the Abrahamic locution. So, just to remind you when we discussed this Ayah in part 3 Ayah {13:4}, from Surah Al-Raad we said Ardh means the scripture, Kitaa means something else means something else, means something else an refers to something else every single word every single term even the verbs even the way the expressions are composed within these verses need to be taken in consideration according to the Abrahamic locution so please keep that in mind it is not just one term plug it in and everything happens like magic it does not work that way, you have to work diligently on every term, every word, every expression, even the pronouns even moving the position of an object versus a subject changes the meaning of the whole sentence.

So, there are a lot more details to this than some of you have been asking about in some of the comments and some of the private emails that you have sent me so this is the first principle first example from the methodology foundations, the second example for example number four in total something we already addressed the concept of Ardh as a scriptural text and we talked about the divine rain which Allah (swt) brings down, the divine irrigation to help us repair the weltanschauung okay very well so now the obvious question is, where does the rain come from? According to the Abrahamic locution according to the systematic thematic collection of terms and expressions in the Quran where does the water come from now those of you who are familiar with the style and the structure and the examples and reading the Quran, know very well that the divine rain, the divine guidance comes down from Al-Samaa or Al-Samaawaat and therefore we have to ask the divine tetawaat and this is again the new foundation that we're building for this methodology, now I put this cut and paste segment from a lexicon called Lissan Al-Arab Ibn Manzour Al-Afriki is the one who composed and assembled this lexicon called Lissan Al-Arab it's a very old traditional dictionary but very extensive and it includes so many different meanings and interpretations for every single term, especially the gerunds of the Arabic language, this is very important because I am receiving a lot of concerns and complaints from my Arabic speaking brothers, and they don't trust that we have done significant research before we present anything to you and this is just one example and I'm going to show you and those of you who speak Arabic are going to be shocked and you should be shocked because there is much that we have not been taught in our traditional training and education of the Arabic language I'm going to give you the example so that you see for yourself with your own eyes that things we take for granted are not necessarily true.

The word Samaawaat in the Quran has this double (a) in here what you don't pronounce it it's not a single (a) in here watch this in Lissan Al-Arab and again this is a cut and paste entry under the term Samaa which means to elevate or to rise or to raise above you right he says very specifically watch how it's written watch how it's written right here it is written without an alif after the meme it is not samawat it's samawat and again he says the plural of Samaa is Samawat not Samaawaat, now in the Quran this word right here samawat which is a single (a) not double (a), a single (a) the word samawat does not occur in the Quran never the Quran uses the word samawat which is the plural of Samaa.

This is very critical and I hope you are learning to be honest and to be modest and to be humble in receiving new knowledge we are told that samawat is the plural of Samaa which means the heavens or the skies above us and all sorts of scholars have built a whole career on interpreting scientific miracles of the cosmology, and the heavens, and the skies and multiple layers of the atmosphere, and all of this none of this is in the Quran the Quran is not talking about Samawat this word right here somehow I'm going to enlarge it because I really want you to see it this word Samawat without the alif after the m it's not a double (a) it's a single (a) in the lexicon in the Arabic language samawat exists in the Quran samawat is never used so what is Samaawaat?

Here's the answer and I put this little chart in here so you can see a little bit better so Samawat the one right here I'm circling with the mouse is the one from the Arabic language, from the common Arabic it is the plural of Samaa or Samawat and Samaa is plural also both words ama and Samawat is in the common Arabic plural for what's above you, something above you physically usually physically so in the Quran is a different word watch this little alif in here this called alif al-khrnjarya anyone who memorizes the Quran or learns to do tajweed if he says he made a mistake it is both long alifs this is exclusively in the Quran this is a plural of what the answer is it is the plural of where this divine rain comes from it is the plural of the Quranic concept of the source of this divine rain the source of this divine mercy and guidance that Allah (swt), provides to specific people so when we read a shall see in many examples we're talking about being the scriptural text and Samaawaat the layers of understanding above it from which Allah (swt), brings this divine rain to irrigate your weltanschauung and repair it and help you improve your access to the divine guidance in the Quran Insha'Allah I hope this is clear now if we review we talked about this before.

The concept of where are the Ayahs and I'm going to give you a very quick example very quick example of where Ayahs are or what are the Ayahs remember Ayah means sign, so therefore the question is what is Ayah where does it reside? And remember we talked when we talked about Naskh and abrogation we said Ayah are here in your weltanschauung Ayah are not on paper and I'll give you an example let's say you are an investigator and you go to a crime scene and you see the butt of a cigarette that is squashed on the floor and to most people this may not mean anything but to an astute trained investigator you recognize that this is related to the action that surrounded that crime, and therefore you start thinking that we may need to look for someone who smokes perhaps the specific brand of the cigarette means something, perhaps the way someone crushed that cigarette without completing it all the way means something, of course this is an indication to the investigator but an untrained eye is just the butt of a cigarette it doesn't mean anything.

And this is exactly the concept of Ayah, so Ayah exists in your own comprehension not on paper it's not the cigarette itself that is a sign it is how that investigator understood that cigarette butt that made it a sign for him, that made it a part of the evidence, that made it an Ayah so the understanding of the Ayah is up here in your weltanschauung it is not on paper it's not the word itself that becomes an Ayah, it's how you reflect on it and grasp it and understand its implication and its indication that makes it a sign, an Ayah and therefore when Allah (swt), reveals to you that Ayah, that Ayah is coming from Samaawaat that revelation to you personally is part of that divine rain coming down from Samaawaat, so Samaawaat just to summarize is the layers of understanding, the layers of understanding above the text, it's a metaphorical representation of all the different layers of understanding and as we know the Quran has many layers of understanding not just one that is referred to in the Quran as Samaawaat long double (a), long double (a) in both after the and after the.

So, let's look at an example and this is extremely important I need you to really pay attention and stay alert this is a beautiful area from Surah Al-Anbiyaa Surah 21 Ayah 31, so the translation that we provide for this Ayah is very interesting have those who rejected in other words people of earlier scriptures who have rejected, so the translation of this Ayah according to our methodology and our Abrahamic locution that we use in this channel, have those who rejected i.e. the people of earlier scriptures who rejected the Quran have they not seen already how the Samaawaat meaning the layers of understanding were bound to the scriptural text before but with the Quran they became separated from each other whoa what they're separated yes it's exactly what this Ayah says, they were together they were attached in every other human piece of literature before but with the Quran these two are split from each other, you read the text it does not mean you understand it you read the text there is another process that needs to happen which is the understanding has to come from Allah (swt), let me repeat it this is extremely significant everything before the Quran you read it you understand the words you understand exactly what the author of the text is trying to tell you from engaging the words directly with the Quran the layers of understanding and the layer of the scripture are separate from one another reading the text does not mean you understand it, you have no guarantee whatsoever that if you read the text you will receive the correct understanding this is unique to the Quran this is absolutely amazing discovery amazing declaration in this area in front of you Samaawaat the layers of understanding and Al-Ardh which is the scriptural text itself they were together they were smushed together before the Quran, with the Quran they are split they are no longer attached to one another, we rip them apart, we split them apart we did not leave any direct attachment between the layer of understanding and the scriptural text.

I hope you appreciate what we're saying this is significant let's continue and we made out of the divine water this is exactly what we're talking about everything that's alive in other words in order for this Ayah this this textual scripture Ayah the verses to become alive you need this rain, you need this divine water, you need the divine guidance from Allah (swt), the layers of understanding have to pour this irrigating liquid upon your weltanschauung.

So, these Ayah become alive in your weltanschauung in your own Umniy-yah and now you have a new Umniy-yah because this this schema that grew as a result of this divine water is going to guide you to understand more and more and more and this is the process of repair that Allah (swt), told us about all through the Quran will they not believe, this is addressing again those who have refused the Quran and we established within the scriptures text (Rawaassiy) this is another word again we cannot understand one word at a time and assume that we keep the rest of the Ayah according to the old interpretation, and we established within the scriptures text Rawaassiy meaning anchoring principles (Rassa) that means to anchor or to drop down or to firm up against the ground, so there are things that anchor you these are the principles lest misinterpreting the scripture causes them to go astray and we established within it meaning within al-Ardh because this is talking about the scriptures text and we established within it meaning the scriptural text connected waterways connected waterways of divine guidance per chance they find guidance if they follow them.

So, what is this talking about? This is talking about the linking that we constantly do when we do a nested interpretation, we're following an Ayah and then we take one word and see the links for it in all other parts of the Quran this is connected ways that are grooved throughout the scriptural text why? Perhaps they shall find guidance if they follow them so now this verse is not talking about the heavens above or the big bang or the way the planets separate from other planets or the way black holes none of this stuff it is talking about a methodology instruction related to how to engage the Quran has nothing to do with all of these latest scientific discoveries that unfortunately some scholars have made a career out of grabbing and then applying over the Quran, just like the people who did the old interpretations did with the language of the poets we have scholars who are grabbing scientific discoveries and applying them over the Quran claiming that this must be what the Quran is talking about without any direct evidence whatsoever, here the evidence is very clear Allah (swt), is talking about which are the layers of understanding and Al-Ardh which is the scriptural text they were bound together before the Quran in all other scriptures with the Quran they become split separated you have access to the text it does not mean you have access to the layers of understanding, Allah (swt), is telling us in this clear Ayah a brand new process of engaging the divine text which is the Quran so now we come to what I promised you at the beginning which is the mother of all gifts which is this concept that we just discussed the fact that the text is not attached directly to the understanding of the text these two are split they're ripped apart with the Quran this will explain so many things it's just amazing discovery and this will give you access to privileged knowledge that ninety percent or even more of the so-called scholars don't even know to look for don't even know to go to learn this is what the Quran is talking about.

So, in order to deal with this mother of all gifts I decided to respond to a comment from a subscriber the comment said why did Allah (swt), have to disguise prophet Muhammad (saw), isn't it confusing for his slaves meaning the people who are engaging in following the way of Allah (swt), what is Allah's purpose in making things difficult to understand wasn't the Quran meant to reach most people and not just some scholars who could crack the code is that the way how a holy book should be understood riddles and puzzles etc. and multiple interpretations making it confusing for the ummah? Very legitimate question in many ways but you will see the answer is very simple the understanding of the Quran is not inside the text let me repeat it the understanding of the Quran is not inside the text of the Quran it is split it's ripped apart from the text the understanding comes directly from Allah (swt), the understanding of the Ayah of the Quran is deposited by Allah (swt), you have very little to do with actually extracting the understanding from the Ayah.

I hope you understand what we're saying we're saying something very significant something nobody has touched on even something nobody has alluded to and we are presenting the details and the evidence for it in this segment you may be asking what does this have to do with Surah just be patient just be patient because all of these concepts as I said are necessary to understand the significant of the last few verses of Surah Abbasa, so before we get to the last few verses of Surah Abbasa we have to go through these concepts and really understand them and extract the maximum amount of wisdom from them so that we can understand the rest of Surah Abbasa.

So, this is a completely new Islamic science of cognitive psychology, cognitive psychology deals with the science of how we learn how we think how we reflect how our psychology and our makeup affect what we understand this is a brand new way of cognitive psychology it's an Islamic cognitive psychology and I urge all of those students who are studying psychology to go investigate this concept further not only one dissertation will come out from this many PhD dissertations will come out from this single discovery I promise you this understanding will help us in understanding our relationship with the divine and again it's part of the submission to Allah (swt), so in order to understand how Allah (swt), help us in our engagement of the Quran we have to first realize that the understanding is not the product of our own cognitive processes the understanding is a gift from Allah (swt), always, they only encounter any parts of knowledge from him to the extent that he wills that he desires so if you are watching this segment or any other segment of this channel and Alhamdulillah Allah (swt), has blessed you with receiving and understanding it is not Dr. Hany who gave you this knowledge it's Allah (swt), who allowed the rain to come upon you to receive this divine guidance to receive this divine that's why we keep saying this realm is a divine gift to all mankind.

The second part of this knowledge is epistemology itself the concept of epistemology which is a philosophical word that means where is the source of knowledge according to this new science of cognitive psychology the basis of all human knowledge is a gift from Allah (swt), remember in part three we discussed briefly Isaac newton and how his process went where he would ask the question and sit and wait and sometimes it takes him hours, sometimes takes him days, sometimes takes him weeks, I myself told you that there was one Ayah in Surah Yusuf that took me seven years before Allah (swt), permitted me to fully understand its broad implications such is the reception of understanding the layers of understanding are separate from the text itself the sooner you come to accept this concept and fully surrender to it the sooner you will start enjoying the Jannat the paradise the gardens the secret abodes that Allah (swt), has for you.

I urge let's look at some examples some verses and Ayah from the Quran Surah Al Israa {17:44} Allah (swt), says to his predetermined way i.e. in the orbits we've talked about which is the orbit, to his predetermined way surrender all seven layers of understanding and now we have a new concept Samaawaat are the layers they're determined by account which is seven and the scriptures text and must also surrender all those who engage in them meaning in assam await and so if you're engaged in that concept in that process and you want to have access to those layers of understanding you have and jinn and humans if you can penetrate the fences established around the layers of understanding and around the scripture we challenge you to go ahead and penetrate them you shall not succeed except by the divine authoritativeness this is exactly what we're talking about you will not understand Allah (swt), brings down that divine rain from where from Samaawaat the layers of understanding that he keeps to himself and then he will give you parts according to your readiness according to your weltanschauung how much you have worked on your Umniy-yah your schemas how much you have submitted with humility how much you have been patient how much you have been observing how much you have worked on the process of purifying yourself with a bad debt and with diligence and with the discipline and with the perseverance all sorts of things for you to become among and when you become among them Allah (swt), will have mercy on you and start giving you in accordance to Kadr we talked about this before laylatul is the night where Allah (swt), gives you in do measure that's laylatul and that's all related to these concepts that we're talking about.

We continue with another example yes asks him he who engages in the layers of understanding and in the scripture every day every day is a key word in here and this discipline that you have to engage the Quran with has to be a daily discipline has to be something you repeat every single day why because every day you are liable to engage in something new to receive a new matter a new thing that Allah (swt), opens up for you now there are many Duaa Insha'Allah that I will teach you and I will share with you over the time over the future segments and there are many other aspects of this methodology in this discipline that we will uncover slowly over time so you need to be patient but I'm just giving you the helicopter view of this whole process this whole new Islamic cognitive psychology science and Insha'Allah you will absorb it and you will engage yourself in accordance to what we're saying in here.

And then finally, another example from Surah Ghafer {40:57}, indeed the guidance remember Khalk we've talked about this before hulk does not mean just creation in a physical manner but its creation in a spiritual intellectual manner which happens constantly and continuously for you for your wealth the guidance spiritual intellectual etc. received through engaging the layers of understanding in the scripture is more valid because it's coming from Allah (swt), than the guidance received through other people so anything Dr. Hany is saying on this channel is just the interpretation based on the measured reception I have been privileged to be given by Allah (swt), I share with you as examples not as guidance the guidance is from Allah (swt), the same his guidance was in measure for his wealth and Alhamdulillah we know from everything we know about prophet Muhammad (saw), he was the best at receiving the guidance but it does not mean his reception or what he received of the guidance is applicable to everybody else and that's why he did not do Tafseer that's why none of the close companions did Tafseer because for every person they have a uniquely formed and sometimes defective weltanschauung and Allah (swt), deals with them on their own premise on their own scope of weltanschauung Allah (swt), gives them what they need to keep moving forward if they keep moving forward toward Allah (swt), but most people do not have the evidence of such knowledge now we talked about means knowledge with evidence so what does this have to do with this Ayah Allah (swt), is telling us that for example if you taste mango and you're describing what it tastes like for someone who is far away from you over the phone or something like that there's no way you can communicate that taste to someone who has never tasted mango before, it is a personal experience it is evidence that Allah (swt), provides to you and nobody else and if you receive that evidence you're fully satisfied and you feel this overwhelming sense of peace overwhelming sense of conviction, nobody can take this away from you nobody can convince you otherwise it doesn't matter if you're the only person on earth who has received such beauty and pleasure and sensation of happiness you know it's true even if everybody else tells you you're crazy this is the relationship between you and Allah (swt), according to this new Islamic cognitive psychology and it is not just for Muslims it is for everybody the sooner we realize that this understanding that gets deposited into our consciousness comes from outside of us from Allah (swt), the sooner we can start exploring a better relationship with the divine the creator of all the universe and therefore our relationship with every other creature improves because of this understanding.

We move on to methodology foundations one more example and this is a summary of the steps of the organic methodology remember the organic methodology is not to unlock the code of the text the organic methodology is it this discipline you apply to yourself so here I'm sharing with you some of the steps not all of them some of the steps that I go through and I encourage you to start understanding to go through yourself first we need to learn to read the Quran what does that mean it's not just reciting the Quran it is not just mouthing the enunciation of the words and the sounds that result from the text and I apologize for breaking this to you but most of us who don't understand what we're reading are really not reading we are uttering we are pronouncing the words and the characters and the vowels and the accents and so on but we're not really reading to read the Quran means that you're fully engaged with every word you look at when the Quran asks you a question you stop and you try to answer that question when the Quran says in this we have just given you a sign you stop and you say where is that Ayah I need to learn it when Allah (swt), tells us I've just given you evidence you look for it and you say okay I didn't I missed it I need to stop I cannot proceed before I really engage that evidence Allah (swt), just gave me and so on so reading is a proactive very engaged process it is not just a passive you're listening with the ear or you're enunciating with the tongue but nothing is getting through to the heart reading is fully being there connected with the text of the Quran that's the first step.

Observing intently every character the way a word is drawn or written the way a sentence is split across two Ayah the way the Quran is making reference to something that you're not aware of every single observation has to be caught and you develop the sense of observation over time this is not going to happen overnight it's not going to happen in one sitting or even one year sometimes it takes 20 years, 40 years for some people to really extract enough abilities of observation to appreciate the variations in the Quran so this takes time but it is part of the process and we have to learn it we have to make sure that we start observing it those of you who have contacted me to try to learn some of these aspects that we talk about in this channel this is the process I put them through I put them through learning to observe learning to link the verses of the Quran learning to notice variations that most people don't even notice this is very important part of understanding this process that we're talking about this organic methodology again one more time the methodology is to work on you methodology is not to be applied to the text it's not an instrument you apply it is not a magnifying glass that allows you to see more it's none of that methodology improves your ability to receive improves your availability and your humbleness to be able to receive the mercy from Allah (swt), with this divine rain.

So by observing intently the Quran will teach you the text the scriptural text will start to teach you and it becomes like software that impacts you so now you pay attention to the style the various terms to the various grammatical inflections to the various way of delineating sentences every possible aspect of the text itself becomes a teacher for you and it changes you and now you develop a certain amount of knowledge that other people don't have additionally you have to ask specific and daring questions daring in the sense that there is something you don't understand even if you read it in some Tafseer or you read it in some translation does not make sense make a note of it do the due diligence in order to open your weltanschauung to be receptive by asking questions remember you're recognizing that your Umniy-yah your schema one or more and your weltanschauung near need repair and therefore by asking questions you're allowing yourself to be ready to receive you're emptying the cup you're saying my cup is full of junk I need to pour it out to dump it and start to receive fresh new water fresh new (maa), from Allah (swt), what else you keep reading and you keep observing and you keep reading and you keep observing and you make Duaa there will be a set of Duaa Insha'Allah that we will reveal in the future we've revealed some of them already in some of the earlier segments you can go back to them you also have to fulfill all of your Ibaadaat all of them everything that the prophet (saw), used to do especially charity nothing unlocks your weltanschauung to receive like charity nothing and that's why zakat is constantly repeated throughout the whole Quran it's very important to do charities to do zakat to cleanse to give out some of your possessions or maybe more than some of your possessions because it cleanses you from attachment to material things is the worst type of attachment, attachment to existing understanding is just as bad in order to practice detachment as far as the wrong understanding you have to practice detachment in terms of material wealth and material possessions that you have you also have.

You also have to wait and not rush you shouldn't ever say I'm not receiving you should always ask okay I'm not receiving because of something in me what do I have to do to make myself more worthy to receive and don't give up don't feel hopeless don't feel disconnected from Allah (swt), keep on the path stay on the path because Allah (swt), promised us and he never he never misses on his promise and you have to have that concept of certainty built into your process into your whole methodology when you receive Zikra and we've talked about Zikra before it's this spontaneous aha moment this flash of insight that comes to you seemingly from nowhere sometimes it happened to me just as I'm stepping out of the shower sometimes I do it I'm doing the dishes and something happens and it reminds me sometimes a comment comes from one of the subscribers on this channel and it flashes a certain opinion or certain idea in my mind, so that's why I keep telling you I learn from you so make sure your comments are polite and with the right intentions so that we can all learn so that we can all engage in this process so this process is individual but it's also collective it's for the whole Ummah and that's why we are sharing all of this on this channel we want everyone to be engaged in this process to learn and to understand so that we can grow the amount of knowledge and the amount of maturity and awareness within the ummah and Insha'Allah you will be a part of this that's why we're sharing all of this information.

When you receive Zikra such a flash of insight or an opinion that comes out of nowhere an aha moment don't rush don't fall into the trap of becoming enamored with it becoming in love with it becoming insistent that this is the right answer no stop this is the most dangerous part this is the part where you have to really stop and show patience and show discipline you have to accept that maybe this is not the right answer so how do you know that how do you decide if it is a right or wrong answer there are two more steps the first step is confirmation the second step is verification I can't get into a lot of details in this segment but I will tell you very briefly the confirmation means that if this idea is correct it has to apply across the whole Quran to all the Ayah where this term or this concept or this idea may be applicable so you have to do more research you have to hold that idea as a hypothesis conjecture is the word that's used in scientific circles so this is a conjecture and you say okay possible it's plausible that's what we did in part two of the series we said it's plausible now we have to prove it, and we go through all of the other Ayah we go through all of the contexts we go through all of the implications what's called implicature and you see if it holds water the concept of verification deals with finding other aspects of the same idea and other things that relate to this idea and trying to find corroborating evidence to match this new understanding you just developed with this conjecture again this is something that we cannot elaborate fully in this segment but Insha'Allah we will develop more understanding for them in future segments Insha'Allah.

All right we continue Insha'Allah with the methodology foundation example number five as we said before the organic Quranic methodology is not something you apply to the scriptural text of the Quran as in the model of the western hermeneutics it is something you apply on yourself it is something you use to keep yourself objective, to keep yourself disciplined, to keep yourself from making mistakes, and following prey to your shaitaan as we engage the Quran we have to ensure that we're following the process carefully not to fall into the mistakes that other people have made this is very similar to the scientific method scientific method doesn't really allow you to unlock the secrets it just makes sure that you don't make mistakes so in that sense verification is a must in the philosophy of science this concept is referred to as Karl popper's falsification principle and again I'm not going to say much those of you who are familiar with these issues will appreciate that we use these principles within the Quranic methodology finally there's a lot more to this methodology it is not just about the few steps that we just discussed there are principles there is a special type of vocabulary that the Quran teaches us about this methodology there are certain guArdh rails that we have to be careful with and so on there's a lot more detail but this will give you a helicopter view of everything that we follow and as you can tell it's an intensive process it's not a simple process it is a process that takes time and takes discipline and remember we're engaging the words of Allah (swt), so we can't make light of this.

We continue with the methodology foundation this methodology which is the discipline is referred to by the Quran as As-Siratul Mustaqim and this is something that's going to be a surprise to most of you the word has been interpreted by various Mufassereen or people who talked about the Quran as this narrow path between Jannah and Nar and all of this stuff and it is not based on the Quran whatsoever the word Mustaqim includes this letter which refers to the self the self that means you apply it to yourself so it is your own is it's your own self-correction, correction of the self must and notice that I did not put a hyphen between self and correcting it is correcting the self this is how the Quran must act on you like software again we will detail this concept a lot more Insha'Allah in upcoming series by misunderstanding the concept of assert and by not even looking for it in the Quran most of the books of Tafseer made mistakes they went wrong in their approach and most of you have asked me how come all of those other Mufassereen did not get it right and you're trying to tell us that you are on the right path well watch this and learn and Insha'Allah you will agree you will see for yourself where they went wrong most of the Mufassereen applied the style of the poets they did not apply the styles of the Quran they did not allow the Quran to teach them the ways and the habits of the Quran the style of how it uses terms and expressions and pronouns and where it delineates the sentences and how it relates and links the various stories all of this unique literary style of the Quran was not taken in consideration they came into interpreting any verse by thinking ahead of time that this verse must match the style of the poets and therefore they viewed the Quran as a text that included the in the understanding and the meaning within it and that was the first mistake they made.

The second mistake they made is they brought everything they learned from the style of the poets and applied them to the Quran as if the poets dominate over the words of Allah (swt), they were correct according to their preconceived notions of what style they should use to interpret the Quran but they were wrong according to the instructions given within the Quran so the Quran told us specifically do not follow the ways of the poets very clear don't follow the ways of the poets finally the more a scholar is entrenched in the style of the poets in other words the more an Islamic or Quranic scholar has invested time in learning the poetry of the herbs the further and the harder it shall be for him to return to understand the Quran on its own term, in its own style and I know this is a big claim I'm making but if you really think about it you'll understand what I'm talking about his weltanschauung is so preloaded with all sorts of wrong assumptions that when he comes into the Quran he will not be able to recognize the different style that the Quran is using for its own expression for its own composition watch this Ayah and you will be the judge for yourself in Surah Al-Tawbah Ayah 97 Allah (swt), tells us it is talking about the Arabs and some disagreement exists regarding the translation of the word but Al-Aarab are those who use the language of the poet who are entrenched in that style they Allah (swt), tells us they are too competent in the wrong style to accept the evidence for the linguistic boundaries of what Allah (swt), has made accessible upon his messenger now some Arab brothers will say the linguistic boundaries it's talking about hodood that's exactly what hodood means and when we described Hadid which is from the gerund hadda or hadadah is to prove under provide the boundaries and the boundaries of the linguistic style of the Quran so hadid in the Quran is not referring to the metal to iron or it is referring to the boundaries of what the words of the Quran are supposed to indicate and therefore Allah (swt), is telling us the more you learn the wrong ways the harder it shall be to understand the ways of the Quran because you've already pre-loaded your cup your cup is so full you're so full of yourself so to speak you're so full of the style of the poets that you will not recognize that the style of the Quran is different it is a different Lissan and that's what we keep talking about it is not the Lissan of the Arabs it's an Arabic Lissan in its own style it is a style based on the pure Arabic language not the language of the Arab poets.

So Allah (swt), continues Allah (swt), is the source of learning and the source of Quranic linguistic discernment the word hakim is from which is the linguistic discernment according to the Abrahamic locution as you can see Allah (swt), is telling us very clearly it's using the word that means they're more competent yes they are more competent but in the wrong ways they're not competent in the ways of the Quran they're not coming into the Quran ready to learn its style they're ready to learn its ways of expressions and the example I give you here and you need to internalize this really because this is so important imagine you bring an alchemist from the medieval ages those alchemists understood chemistry based on the model of the four elements earth fire air and water so everything in their opinion must fit into these four categories now imagine you bring an alchemist from the medieval ages and you expose him to what Mendeleev's table of elements Mendeleev by the way is a Russian brilliant chemist who died in 1907 he developed a table of elements imagine you expose that medieval alchemist to what Mendeleev produced he will reject it beforehand because in the mind of the alchemist the world is defined using a different model a different style there's no way for that medieval scholar, medieval chemist, medieval alchemist medieval Mufasser to come and submit without giving up everything he learned from his medieval sciences this is exactly the same thing that this area is saying unless you give up your competencies what you think are competencies what you think are treasures you've learned you have to give them up because you have to submit to the style of the Quran not to the style of the poets you don't submit the Quran to the poets you submit your knowledge to the style of the Quran.

So, gift number one what is Allah's appointed promise the word that's used in the Quran very often is and again we are continuing with exposing this concept of Abrahamic locution and methodology and splitting the understanding from the text and all of these concepts are really essential to understanding Surah Abbasa which is yet to come in this segment I promise I told you before some Ayah in the Quran are not understood without understanding the concept of as scriptural text watch this Ayah and you decide for yourself from Surah {13:31} Allah (swt), says even if repeated readings remember Quran means repeated readings it is not just the proper noun of this book it is the intention of reading again and again and again that's why the very first verse Ayah that was revealed to prophet Muhammad (saw), was read as we described it earlier in this segment even if repeated readings of the Quran give someone the illusion that they caused the mountains to move again I put (jibal) mountain in parentheses here because it's not the right interpretation but we will keep moving for now so they have the illusion that they moved mountains with the Quran with their reading of the Quran or the scriptures text to be fragmented the way they cut it up the way they took every Ayah separately and tried to interpret it as if it was an island by itself that's segmenting the Quran fragmenting the pieces and the portions of the Quran disjointing parts of the Quran from the rest of the Quran even if they seem successful in doing so or even if they allowed the dead to address them allowed them to address the dead right have communication with the dead in both ways so they allowed those who died 1200 years ago, 1300 years ago who wrote the books of Tafseer to address us and even if they use the Quran to talk to the dead people in the graves or make Duaa on their behalf and so on so forth even if they think they are successful Allah (swt), says to Allah (swt), exclusively belongs all commands to understand the Quran to Allah (swt), alone is the command to understand the Quran and then the verse continues isn't it time for those who believe to concede that, had Allah (swt), wished he would have guided all mankind collectively now this is clear evidence that the guidance is direct from Allah (swt), the text is right there in front of you and you have repeated readings and some people even claim that they have been able to be successful by fragmenting it or moving mountains or talking or allowing the dead to talk to them and so on so forth no Allah (swt), says no to Allah (swt), belongs that matter that matter of the commands and it is time for you to concede that guidance only comes from Allah (swt), again as we explained so far in this segment isn't it time to do so while realizing that those who reject shall continue to be hit by Karya is something that knocks you on the head something that almost makes you bald right and Allah (swt), is using that word to represent losing balance and losing certainty that's exactly what we find in the books of Tafseer we're losing our balance because they're not consistent they're not systematic in their ways of interpretation and we're losing our certainty and confidence and we're losing our veracity belief that the Quran is truthful of course because of what they have done in the books of Tafseer Allah (swt), is expressing it right here in this Ayah isn't it time to seed or concede that Allah (swt), could have guided all mankind even while realizing that those who reject shall continue to be hit by a knock on their head losing balance and certainty because of what they have devised and we've talked about the devising before or to have such knock hit them close to their comfort zone, every single Muslim today especially the educated ones are having doubts and having questions and of course it's not helping that we look for the answers in our own tradition of books of Tafseer and we don't find acceptable answers this is what this Ayah is talking about but Allah (swt), is telling us never fails to accomplish his appointed promise so here Allah (swt), is talking about an appointed promise okay so what is this word and here in order to understand this, we enter into this Surah that I promised you a brand new Surah and we're going to provide it is interpretation and its translation according to the organic Quranic methodology so you see for yourself what is this promise that Allah (swt), provided us in the Quran and maybe perhaps Insha'Allah we are seeing this promise being fulfilled in these days as we live let's read Surah al-Zalzalah Surah 99 either when the scriptures surface layer or text is shaken in its own way that's the literal translation now we get into a little bit more details so we can unravel the Hur so when the earth layer is shaken in here it's the scriptural surface layer it's shaken or zulzilla or like a seismic event like an earthquake you see cracks and when those cracks develop it is split in its own way of splitting so Allah (swt), is telling us there shall come a time when the earth surface is cracking and remember we saw an earlier Ayah of Surah Abbasa where Allah (swt), tells us that when the earth cracks and the seeds start to blossom and to grow and to come out of the earth has formed in the form of plants and so on so forth Allah (swt), is describing the same scene again using the same theme that we discussed before so I'll add the surface layer of the scriptural text is shaken to where it cracks you see splits you see some fissures and as a result it brings out its heavy loads and then the designee among mankind some people will be designated to ask that type of question and Insha'Allah on this channel this is all we're doing we're asking these questions what is with it why is this happening Allah (swt), is providing the answer on that day it shall it the scripture shall express its true accounts it shall reveal its secrets according to the fact that its lord commanded it to do so at that time not before at that time not before I hope you heard me that explains a lot of the questions that you guys have been asking me why now we don't know but Allah (swt), provided the promise right here in front of you and we're reading it now notice it doesn't say anything about the day of judgment most interpretations of this Surah went immediately to their judgment there is nothing in this Surah that says this happens on the day of judgment this Surah is saying on that day there shall come a day when this happens so when this Surah was revealed 1440 some years ago Allah (swt), was providing a premonition to the Muslims that there shall come a time where the earth shall reveal all of its Akhbar all of its true accounts according to when Allah (swt), commanded it to do so, this Ayah is describing all of you viewers all of the people in the audience watching right now coming all together that means each on their own each independently seeking searching trying to find better answers trying to connect with Allah (swt), you come to view this channel this is what it means yes that means they come forth on their own nobody is pushing them nobody is forcing them to be shown how their divine Quranic lexicon should be produced and how it was erroneously produced is a verb that expresses that somebody else is showing you this is exactly what this channel is doing the word remember we discussed this several times anytime you see the word all of these verbs relate to engaging the Quran and extracting the Abrahamic locution or the divine Quranic lexicon that Allah (swt), used for the Quran so to be shown how their divine Quranic lexicon was erroneously worked or produced and how it should be produced correctly and I hope this is what we're doing on this channel this is the good news on that day and that day forward whoever performs an atom's weight of the correct application of what of the Quranic lexicon that we're uncovering of the Quranic methodology that Allah (swt), shall see its good results there will be good results Allah (swt), is promising to you even if you do an atom's weight worth of work in this direction Allah (swt), will show you the good what about the other side of the coin on that day whoever performs and atom's weight of the erroneous application of the divine Quranic lexicon shall see its bad result so Insha'Allah we shall not be among those described in Ayah eight we shall be among those described in Ayah number seven and now we come to Surah Abbasa finally this is not the end of the video we still have a lot of gifts for you but we need to move forward one step at a time in prior segments we've covered up to a 32 in this segment we're going to cover the remainder of this Surah is I need to do a little bit of a linguistic analysis to it so you can understand and this is what we call the nested interpretation so we come to the lexicon the Lissan al-Arab and the word Assakh is it's the sound made by striking metal against metal or iron against iron or something similar against something of the same nature now if you take it literally using the word hadid it is referring to the word hadid as used in the Quran and I am confident that this is how prophet Muhammad (saw), understood it but even if you don't take it that way it is hitting or applying something against something else of the same nature and this is what we're doing in here it's interpreting the Quran using the Quran it's applying what we learned from the Quran to the Quran itself Surah Abbasa describes this process Assakha this is exactly what Surah as Zalzalah was talking about when it says that the surface cracked and revealed its loads so the word is the plural of meaning he who produces a sound by striking hadid against hadid in other words applying the linguistic discernment in the Quran to the Quran and this is exactly what we're doing in this channel morphologically the word is like this is only for my Arab-speaking brothers because they always question my ability to do these linguistic analysis and I need to show you that there is a lot of depth that sometimes we skip over but here's an example is the plural of from the gerund which means to make general to make specific is the plural of the word from the gerund is another example is the plural of Kaffon from the gerund not or please don't make that mistake is the plural of the bun from the gerund or and here's a shout out to all of those people who claim that a deb in the Quran refers to this one beast that will come out they're wrong because according to the linguistic analysis of the word it is plural of the these are the people who apply the linguistic discernment from within the Quran to the Quran itself in other words you extract the divine lexicon we call the Abrahamic locution and then you apply it to the Quran doing these nested interpretations and so on so forth so the Ayah says but when come those who make the sound caused by the impact of striking hadid against hadid i.e. applying the linguistic discernment in the Quran to the Quran itself on that day when the individual deserts his brethren you are willing to abandon what your brethren believe in or understand or are attached to what um and his mother and his father and his companions and his descendants here we go again my Arab speaking brothers are pulling their hair, sahibatihi that means his girlfriend or his friend or his wife no it does not it means the plural of his companions plural of s means the companions all the companions all of that person's companions he's willing to abandon them to desert them to desert their ways of thinking and understanding in order to do what Al-Sakha in here what do for each of them for each of these people that we discussed in Surah Al-Zalzalah, they come independently individually each on their own for each of them on that day is divulged a matter that satisfies him or her beautiful absolutely beautiful this is exactly what I've been talking about when you are part of Al-Sakha this group of people who are willing to apply the discernment learned from the Quran to the Quran itself then Allah (swt), will reward you each according to your own level each according to your own wealth for each of them on that day is divulged or is given a matter that satisfies him or her, on that day there shall be on that day there shall be some people like those in Ayah {99:7} up here whoever performs in atoms weight of the correct application those people are described here their outlooks of course the word is usually interpreted as face but the Quranic Abrahamic locution of the word or is your outlook your orientation you're facing the way you're facing outlook outlooks on that day that are guided by the noble emissaries must from safir are the emissaries of Allah (swt), in other words they are the angels of Allah (swt), they're guiding you they're providing you how to go and what to learn and what questions to ask and how to remain patient how to remain humble and how to receive this understanding this divine rain from Allah (swt), so your outlook your orientation is guided by these emissaries delighted even laughing and some of you have written me in the comments and in private emails that sometimes they laugh when they hear these things out of joy out of happiness and sometimes they cry out of recognition of the calamity that we've been living for fourteen hundred years but Allah (swt), is assuring us that this laughter and this delight and this optimism is warranted because Allah (swt), is causing this on the other hand there shall be other outlooks there shall be other people with outlooks that are on that day guided by decrepit relics now I know the translations and the interpretations interpreted this word to mean dust as if they're dusted or dusty but let's go again to the linguistic analysis from the verb as adjourned which means Al-mutahalik for my Arabic speaking brothers archaic and decrepit such as the description used for prophet Lut betraying woman she is described as she is attached to the old decrepit archaic ways not the ways that prophet luth was bringing to his people from are archaic and decrepit so these people are attached to archaism archaic decrepit relics that should be forfeited this is what Allah (swt), is telling us in this Ayah these outlooks are afflicted by closed-mindedness miserly attitude to grab what you think you already know to be so attached to what you were taught in younger age that you don't want to give up and this is why we keep saying you have to open your mind you have to approach Allah (swt), with an empty cup don't insist that what you already have is the standArdh by which the Quran should be understood it's a beautiful expression afflicted by closed-mindedness those are the rejecters whose wantonness is likely to be unrestrained this is a very stern warning to us and to them Allah (swt), is saying don't be among those these are strong words by the way these are tough words for people who are attached to the decrepit relics and who are afflicted by closed-mindedness Allah (swt), is very straightforward in describing them as Kafara from the verb Kafara which to reject kafaraton, al-kafaratu the rejecters whose wantonness is likely to be unrestrained fajara very tough word very strong condemning words against those people now you understand the significance of Surah Abbasa and the importance of these last 10 Ayah and now you understand why we have to go through all of the concepts that we've covered so far in this segment we're not done we have a lot more to come but I'm sharing with you why we have to build slowly but surely and this segment is so long for that purpose and Insha'Allah (swt),you're still with us if you are appreciative of anything we've said so far if you've enjoyed it if you if it touched you in any way please don't be miserly share with other people write a positive comment or best make sure your subscriber make sure if you are a subscriber to click the red bell button

So, now we come to gift number two remember there are a lot of gifts in this segment and this is only gift number two the fear of losing the mother of all gifts that we just described, so remember the mother of all gifts is recognizing that the layers of understanding are separated from the text the text does not contain the understanding the text does not contain the meanings the text cannot be subjected to standArdh hermeneutics or to interpretation based on the style of the poets the separation of these layers understanding that concept is the mother of all gifts that we're sharing with you in this segment what happens if you voluntarily walk away from that gift you surrender that ability to connect with the layers of understanding from Allah (swt), you decide you don't need this guidance you are independent you think you don't need such guidance Allah (swt),gave us Surah Abbasa to remind us that there are such people and such people are not worthy of being alive Allah (swt), caused that prophet to die this is why the story of the man who died for 100 years was told to us in Ayah {2:259} and was mentioned in Surah Abbasa this is the importance of this concept and this is the importance of this Surah that once you grab this gift don't ever give it up because it's the best gift to all mankind now I cannot promise you when or even if it will happen to you but when it does I promise you will be in Jannat indescribable level of pleasure and happiness something I cannot express because language is just way too short to express such pleasure but Allah (swt), promised you that it could happen to you it will happen to you if you follow this methodology that we talked about when you experience this divine guidance it becomes the most important priority in your life I promise you receiving Zikra does not have to be direct by the way as we said before so Zikra could be triggered by so many different things the idea itself pops up as if it popped up from nowhere but there is a trigger for it sometimes something Dr Hany says is a trigger sometimes as we said before a comment somebody writes is a trigger sometimes something you read or see in some other unrelated field may be the trigger and by the way some of you have already told me that you've experienced the Zikra you've experienced jeanette you've experienced this sense of pleasure in one of the emails I received this beautiful person described that she has been washed she feels she has been washed with this beautiful sense of fluid pleasurable sensation that she's never experienced before this is what we're talking about Jannat most of you who have written in the emails have told me that you look at the Quran as if it's something totally different now exactly.

The gift number three we think you're all going to agree that this is not your father's Quran we're talking about this is not the same Quran they told us about this is the Quran that Allah (swt),preserved for us so you need to tell your friends neighbors and loved ones and let's keep learning together and here's the beautiful gift I promised you for the full translation of everything we've said before on these four parts of this series the translation of Surah Abbasa translation of Surah Zalzalah and all of the details of everything I've showed you in this series are included in a pdf file downloadable from the description below don't go there yet there's a lot more to come just be patient we're almost done and I appreciate that you've been persevering so far.

Gift number four, an important question about the timing of the revelation of Surah Abbasa and this is an important question that we need to address now if you remember we said that the traditional interpretation of Surah Abbasa which is based on (Asbab Al-Noozool), the occasion of revelations that are related to this blind companion Abdullah ibn Um-Maktoom etc. all of that story did not make sense and we pushed it aside and we dove into the Quran and Allah (swt), has allowed us to uncover the beauty of the true interpretation according to the Quranic methodology of Surah Abbasa now having pushed aside their story and having pushed aside their information from their (Asbab Al-Noozool), from their documented history why should we believe that Surah Abbasa was revealed before Surah Al-Baqarah this is what they claim but why should we believe this because their information thus far has proven inaccurate so it is possible that Surah Abbasa was revealed after Surah Al-Baqarah or parts of Surah Al-Baqarah specifically Ayah 259 of Surah Al-Baqarah was revealed earlier who knows Allah (swt), did not say this in the Quran Allah (swt), told us whoever wants to shall remember him meaning the man who died for 100 years and therefore we trust Allah (swt), Allah (swt), told us you could remember if you want and that's sufficient for us we don't take any other timing information from outside the Quran

Gift number five, forcing prior understanding and preconceived notions unto the Quran caused missed opportunities to learn many new things in every Ayah if you remember when we discussed Ayah number four from Surah Abbasa, and we went through this long explanation about Yazzakar and Zikra and why the Mufassiroon missed these concepts because in their mind mean the same thing that's the style of the poets that's the style of the poets of the Arabs of seventh century Arabia that is not the style of the Quran when they came in with their preconceived notions and their assumptions about the style of the Quran erroneous assumptions they missed all sorts of information they didn't even know to ask the right questions such as why Zikra in one Ayah and seven Ayahs later Tazkera basic questions that anybody who reads the Quran today should be able to figure out these are two different words why did Allah (swt), choose these two different words in two different places they didn't even bother to ask all mean the same thing according to the poets yes not according to Allah (swt), another example is the word Tawella all of them interpreted as he turned away or he moved his back toward the person who was asking and that's wrong again when you apply the methodology and the verification that we just described earlier to the rest of the locations where the verb Tawelle occurs you find that it does not fit the verb Tawella means to reject to refuse not just to turn away and again understanding this one term will unlock so many other stories as we shall see when we come for example to Surah 28 which includes the story of Musa and the two women aha he didn't just help them he rejected whatever they were telling him and Insha'Allah, we will discuss this in more details I can just see so many of you scratching your head right now I can see so many of you jumping to write me an email what is this all about Insha'Allah (swt), just be patient don't write me about it don't write in the comments we shall see the story is not what you were told so learning about the style of connecting multiple stories in the Quran has been totally ignored by the Mufassiroon they segmented the Quran as if they were trying to interpret poetry you interpret the poetry one verse at a time the other verses you've already covered them you don't need to go back there

Gift number six (Asbab Al-Noozool), occasions of revelation is a pseudo 3ilm and I mean what I say it's a fake realm because the definition of according to the Quran is knowledge with evidence what's your evidence their evidence are oral reports that were handed down from generation to generation and a lot of disagreements among themselves there is not a single Surah in (Asbab Al-Noozool), the occasions of revelation where there is no disagreement about it among that pseudo so that's not a 3ilm even the word does not apply to this type of knowledge this is hearsay at best it should never be a primary source for interpreting the Quran so when we discussed who was Zul Qarnayn whether or not the Jews came asking prophet Muhammad (saw), that that question is totally irrelevant whether or not they came asking prophet Muhammad as (Asbab Al-Noozool), said is absolutely irrelevant because the Quran has nothing to do with providing answers to the Jews or to whoever coming to ask prophet Muhammad (saw), the fact that Zul Qarnayn story started with yes does not mean that the Quran was obligated to answer them or worse was obligated to confirm their preconceived notions or anyone else's historical or ethnic claims look at Ayah {4:148} the people of earlier scriptures yes the people of earlier scriptures ask you to bring down upon them a scripture from heaven the fact that they ask doesn't mean that the Quran has to do it and this is a clear example yes exact word yes they ask of you so the fact that they ask doesn't mean that the Quran has to jump to their will and their whims and those who do the interpretation on that assumption don't understand the relationship between Allah (swt), and the servant called Muhammad (saw), the fact that someone comes to Muhammad and asks him a question even if that story is true does not mean that Allah (swt), has to jump and respond why should you make that assumption Allah (swt), did not confirm this in the Quran and that's enough for us the fact that some (Asbab Al-Noozool), author reported this fact doesn't mean anything to us it's an external source that does not dominate over our interpretation of the Quran whether or not a blind man came to prophet Muhammad has nothing to do with the purpose and interpretation of the Surah and finally the general principle here remember we're talking about (Asbab Al-Noozool), is a pseudo 3ilm is not a real the Quran is for all times and places its interpretation cannot be locked into or made dependent on specific historic temporal occasion the fact that these temporal occasions were not recorded inside the Quran prove that they have nothing to do with understanding the Quran because Allah (swt),preserved the Quran did not preserve anything else according to what we know from the Quran so I hope you understand this (Asbab Al-Noozool), proclaimed the 3ilm is really not a realm at all and in case you're keeping track we have annulled this 3ilm so called the 3ilm called abrogator and abrogated and Nasekh well in a prior episode called does god sit on a throne I encourage you to watch it if you have not already done so with this (Asbab Al-Noozool), that makes two pseudo-elm that have been totally annulled provably from the Quran as we have done on this channel and I promise you in future segments we are coming to another pseudo 3ilm called invented keywords that people invented have nothing to do with the real definitions according to the Quran and they made a whole realm in us based on these invented words they have nothing to do with the Quran as we shall see.

So, Insha'Allah we have a null to pseudo and from so-called 3oloom Al Quran and a third is on the way Insha'Allah (swt), if you stick with us you will get to learn a lot more, I urge you to subscribe like and share and please leave respectable comments below and Insha'Allah (swt), you will join us on future segments we close with the Duaa with which we always close.

Thank you very much for watching.

Salam Alaykom.
